2016 Baseball All-Star Game Cards for HISTORY MAKER BASEBALL

Just a couple quick notes about this card set, before you dive in and begin playing!

The final all-star rosters were not set when these cards were created, so it's impossible to exactly echo the rosters that will be represented when the real game begins, July 12th at Petco Park in San Diego. Since the newsletter editing deadline was June 24, I simply took the top two vote-getters at each position for both leagues, creating a base roster. Then I used a couple of online resources which made cases for which players should make the squad.

Next, I decided which pitchers should be included, based on current statistical performance. I checked the pitching leader board at baseball-reference.com, and chose players who were at the top of the big leagues for wins, strikeouts, saves, ERA and so on.

Finally, I went through and made sure that each big league team was represented by at least one player.

Thus the rosters I've put together here are not exempt from the annual "who made it, who didn't" discussion, but it should closely reflect the list of players who will actually take the field.

Included in this file is a "cut line grid" for aligning the card segments. We recommend that you print the cut lines on one side of your stock, and the card data on the other. You can feed the card stock into your printer either way, the .5" margins are equal on either side. Be sure to use the "actual size" print setting, rather than the "fit to print" or other print parameter.

Also included is the "Home Run Derby" add-on created last year by Brian Reising, from the PLAAY Games Delphi Forum.

Add some extra pizazz to your All-Star Game by conducting your own Home Run Derby with this nifty little add-on created by Brian Reising, APO, NY. It's easy to use: just roll the three colored game dice, and add them together instead of ordering them from highest to lowest...

3	Home Run!
4	HR KING? Home Run!
5	Out.
6	Home Run!
7	Out.
8	SLUGGER? Home Run!
9	SMALL Ballpark? Home Run! Otherwise out.
10	HR KING AND SLUGGER? Home Run!
11	Out.
12	HR KING? Home Run!
13	HR KING or SLUGGER? Home Run!
14	BIG Ballpark? Out. otherwise Home Run!
15	Out.
16	SLUGGER? Home Run!
17	Out.
18	Home Run!

Brian posted on the PLAAY Games Delphi Forum, "Mathematically a HR KING will hit a homerun around 30% of the time, a SLUGGER about 30% of the time, any other hitter hitting a homerun about 11% of the time. An out should occur around 30% of the time as well. All these will vary slightly based on the ballpark. Likewise, those are base results, and don't factor in the times where outs result from lack of quality, or taking into account semi-qualities not hitting. Overall, I'd say an out should occur about 60% of the time against someone who isn't both HR KING and SLUGGER, or roughly 6 homeruns in a 10 out home-run derby round."
