

2021 Interprovincial Pro Football Conference

The IPFC is the fictional league for Plaay.com's COLD SNAP Canadian Pro Football Game. The IPFC was originally created in 2010 by Keith Avallone and sold through 2013. In 2014, when the series was going to be discontinued, Keith granted Lenny La France permission to keep the league moving forward. Entering Lenny La France's eighth year of creating the IPFC, much has been learned and various improvements have been made with guidance from Keith Avallone, and input from Peter Miller, Giorgio Salvadego, and Joe Pritchard, among others.

The IPFC originally consisted of six teams: Halifax, London, Quebec, Saskatoon, Vancouver, and Ottawa. In 2014, Ottawa moved to Windsor and Alberta was added to the league. At this time, the league's seven teams were not broken down into divisions. In 2015, the league introduced its eighth team, Niagara. Niagara was designated as a regional team playing half of their home games in Buffalo, NY and the others in St. Catherines, Ontario. With eight teams, the league broke down into two divisions, Eastern and Western. No further expansion teams have been added.

2021 Season

Despite a world-wide pandemic, the IPFC enters into their twelfth season and fans will not be disappointed. The 2021 season is expected to have a strong balance across the entire league. However, Vancouver, Niagara, and Alberta have finally pulled their bootstraps up and will be contenders for the Cartier Bowl. Last year's champion, Windsor, and along with Saskatoon have fallen back into rebuilding their teams. Other teams like Quebec and London are not projected to be at the top of the standings but could be disruptive to Cartier Bowl hopefuls.

The 2021 IPFC season continues seeing new talent develop and enter into their prime. Young and exciting quarterbacks, such as Alberta's Nate Willington, Quebec's Jeremy Lefevre, and Vancouver's "Shotgun" Johnson have developed and are ready to leave their marks. However, it's not just young quarterbacks ready to make a name for themselves or make an impact either. Players such as London's Colton Marsh and Vancouver's Myles Molson, who are both entering into their third season, have already made their splash into the stat books and will soon be the league's top wide receivers. But it's not just the offensive players making an impact. Young defensive players such as Niagara's DeShawn Patterson, who only has three seasons under his belt, is the most talented pass coverage player. Not to be outdone, Alberta's Jaxson Leach is already considered a 4-star caliber player just after one season.

Although the future of the IPFC is here now, veteran players are still leading the way. London's J'Marcus Urban and Windsor Shaun Parsons are still considered the best quarterbacks, if not players, in the league. In his eighth season, Wide Receiver Alex Bosch is considered a 5-star caliber player. Entering into his seventh season, Alberta's Running back Kevin Blanchard is still an effective rusher and pass catcher. Quebec's thirteen-year veteran Jerry Simpson and London's eleven-year Robert Nelson are the best offensive guards in the league. Nine-year veteran Dorian Summers is still the most versatile outside linebacker. In London, Jon Ikeda looms in the shadows of Rickey Harvey, but does not disappoint. Five-year veteran Middle Linebacker Oscar Vaughn leads Niagara's defense, the top in the league.

As a new generation of IPFC stars take the helm of the league and veteran future hall-of-famers remain, former league stars moved into retirement. Once a top quarterback, Hugo Hale retired after 15 seasons. Considered their "hometown hero", Hale returns to Ottawa to teach high school physics and calculus. Derrick Lane, who played for almost every team in the IPFC and was once called a "project" by London, finished 15 seasons with the reputation of being a smart and mobile quarterback. However, Lane will likely be best known for leaving London, in 2013, which opened the door for an "athletic, tough, un-polished but with good instincts, a strong arm, and plenty of speed" quarterback named J'Marcus Urban. After 9 years of magically returning kickoffs, Raycharles "the human RC car" hung up his cleats. Fifteen-year veteran, and sure handed, Slotback Joe Barnett moved into coaching. Barnett's jersey will be retired in Vancouver where his career first started. Offensive Tackle Gene Hart finished his 17th season and will be a front runner for the IPFC Hall of Fame. Lastly, fan favorite and a shoe-in for the IPFC Hall of Fame, Rickey Harvey retired after 14 dominating and punishing years on the defensive line.

2021 Interprovincial Pro Football Conference

Eastern Division

Halifax. With a semi-respectable offence and defence, Halifax is going to struggle in the 2021 season. Halifax's offence will be centered around a solid offensive line, Wide Receiver Miguel Nichols, and rookie Slotback Solomon Silver. At the offence's helm will be Quarterback Joshua Gauthier, who arrives in Halifax from Niagara to replace veteran Bruce Kennedy. Despite having Dorian Summers, the best Outside Linebacker in the IPFC, Halifax's defence has significant weaknesses in their backfield. Due to these weaknesses, opposing offences will likely find success throwing mid-to-long range across the middle of the field resulting in productive gains. Projected: 4-6.

London. Led by Quarterback J'Marcus Urban, the top offensive player in the IPFC, London has an explosive offence which will challenge opposing coaches to contain. Besides his speed and ability to move out of the pocket, Urban's success will also be associated with his strong offensive line, led by veteran Guard Robert Nelson, two-way Running back Chase Mullen, Wide Receiver Colton Marsh, Slotback Kyle Laurence, and rookie Slotback Richie Rhinehart. On the defensive side of the ball, with the retirement of future hall-of-famer Rickey Harvey, Jon Ikeda is now the stand-alone top ranked defensive tackle in the IPFC. Ikeda is joined by a strong linebacker unit, good pass rushing defensive ends, and sufficient pass defenders. However, despite this talent, London's defence will struggle stopping the run. Projected: 5-5.

Niagara. Whether on the ground or through the air, opposing offenses will struggle against Niagara's top ranked defence. If opposing offenses try driving the ball through the middle of the line, they will be met by run-stoppers Cory Greenwood and Roger Paquette. If they manage to bypass Niagara defensive tackles, Middle Linebacker Oscar Vaughn will punish them. Opposing quarterbacks will struggle finding open receivers downfield as defenders DeShawn Patterson, Duane Lambert, and Lamar Beck will be looking to pick off or knock down passes. Quarterback Jeff Fountain remains in Niagara to lead their balanced offence. Utilizing Fullback Milt Smyke and Running back Eric Stewart, Niagara will be able to move the ball efficiently on the ground. In the passing game, Fountain has a new go-to receiver in nine-year veteran CJ Dupre, who chose not to re-sign with Windsor. To improve their offensive capabilities, Niagara selected Canadian Offensive Guard Matthew Prichard and Wide Receiver Robert Malone with their draft picks. Projected: 6-4.

Quebec. With an evolving offence and a top-tier defence, Quebec is looking for Cartier Bowl redemption but likely won't find it. However, with 24-year-old, Trois-Rivieres native Jeremy Lefevre at the offensive helm, Quebec should find redemption soon enough. If Quebec's offensive line can buy Lefevre time in the pocket, he could be deadly and embarrass defensive backs. Brian Bender, Diego Garcia, Brenden Dobko, and Josh Seitzer provided Lefevre with solid targets. Rumbling the ball forward on the ground, Quebec's running game consists of brothers Samuel and Martin Norton, along with Allen Jones. As for Quebec's defense, it is promising and full of veteran talent, but take a true team approach as no one specific player stands out. Projected: 5-5.

Western Division

Alberta. With an improving offence and punishing defence, Alberta is looking to dominate the IPFC. Quarterback Nate Willington, Running back Kevin Blanchard, and Fullback David Williams combine for the best offensive backfield in the IPFC. While Williams is able to grind the ball into a wall of defenders, Blanchard is able to defeat defensive schemes both on the ground and through catching passes. Entering into his third season, Willington continues to improve even when under pressure. Willington's top receiver remains future hall-of-famer Chase Patterson who has some of the best hands in the IPFC. Alberta's defence, led by Middle Linebacker Jaxson Leach, has very limited weaknesses and opposing offences will be in for a brawl. Projected: 6-4.

Saskatoon. The 2021 season may feel like an eternity for Saskatoon fans as their team is expected to put up hashmarks in the loss column. Saskatoon's struggle will come from a combination of a mediocre defense and an experienced, but lacking talent offence. On the defensive side of the ball, Saskatoon has talented cornerbacks and halfbacks, but have inconsistent defensive linemen and linebackers. Opponents should look to take advantage of Saskatoon linebackers who are in pass coverage. Offensively, Running back Ntwannu Nyamadi is their best option as he is strong and durable. Quarterback Mark McClellan has the ability to systematically pick opponents apart, but due to holes in the offensive line, he is going to take hits. Projected: 4-6.

Vancouver. Having the IPFC's second ranked offence and defence, Vancouver is looking to remove themselves from last year's dumpster fire and towards a realm of glory. As a true gunslinger, Quarterback "Shotgun" Johnson is coming into his own and has made great strides from his 2020 rookie season. To support Johnson, Vancouver made key offensive signings in the off-season. They signed two-way Running back Cedric Foster, Wide Receiver Anthony Peace, Offensive Guard DeAngelo Fox, veteran Offensive Tackle Laurence Patterson. All four signed players have been All-Pros Foster, Fox, and Patterson will likely enter the IPFC Hall of Fame. Vancouver's defense is well-rounded at every level with a slight advantage in stopping the run game compared to stopping the pass. Projected: 7-3.

Windsor. After winning the 2020 Cartier Bowl, Windsor enters the 2021 season with an average offence, but the worst defence in the IPFC. After London's J'Marcus Urban, Shaun Parsons is considered the next best quarterback in league. Parson's primary target, Alex Bosch, is considered the best wide receiver in the league. However, Parson's only other high-quality target will be Slotback Josh Hollander. Other Windsor receivers are considered average. On the ground, Windsor will primarily rely upon Fullback Stephen Gray and Running back Kevin Pierce. Both are dependable, but don't expect greatness. Windsor's offensive line will provide support for their running attack but will leave holes for pass rushers. Most of Windsor's losses will likely come at their inability to stop opposing offences. Windsor has limited talent on their defensive line and within their linebacker corps. Although Cornerback Ryan Higgins, Halfback Gerald Riley, and Safety Eric Wenke are talented, they will be unable to cover the defence's inadequacy across the entire field. Projected: 3-7.
